Contemporary Debates in Public Administration Alka Dhameja

As a pertinent area of social sciences, public administration must reinvent itself in the wake of new developments in the areas of theory building, organizational reforms, information technology, participatory development, corporate ethics, humane governance, responsive administration, nonstate organizations and administrative capability.

This book makes an attempt to grapple with some of these contemporary concerns in order to generate a debate on the impact of globalization on public administration. In this collection of diverse topics that address various facets of public administration, the overall thrust is on developing indigenous approaches for meeting the growing demands of the changing scenario.

The book will be of immense use to students, academicians, researchers, policy makers and practitioners in public administration.
